v.

INTERNATIONAL,

Defendants.

Civil Action No.

Judge:

COMPLAINT-CLASS ACTION
JURY TRIAL DEMANDED

CLASS ACTION COMPLAINT

AND NOW come Plaintiffs Deborah Prise and Heather Rady, on behalf of themselves and all others similarly situated, by and through their attorneys, Margolis Edelstein, Charles H. Saul, Esquire, and Liberty J. Weyandt, Esquire, and file the following Class Action Complaint:

I. INTRODUCTION

1. This is a proceeding for declaratory relief and monetary damages to redress the deprivation of rights secured to Named Plaintiffs Deborah Prise and Heather Rady individually, as well as all other employees similarly situated, under the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938, as amended, 29 U.S.C. § 201 et seq. ("FLSA"); and other laws of the various States in which defendant does business.

II. JURISDICTION AND VENUE

2. The jurisdiction of this Court is invoked pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1331, 28 U.S.C. 1343 (3) and (4) conferring original jurisdiction upon this Court of any civil action to recover damages or to secure equitable relief under any Act of Congress providing for the protection of civil rights; under 28 U.S. C. § 1337 conferring jurisdiction of any civil action arising under any Act of Congress regulating interstate commerce; under the Declaratory Judgment Statute, 28 U.S.C. § 2201, and under 29 U.S.C. § 216 (b).

3. This Court has supplemental jurisdiction over plaintiffs' state law claims pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §1367.
4. Venue is appropriate in the Western District of Pennsylvania since some of the unlawful acts alleged were committed in this district and plaintiffs reside in this district. Venue is proper before this Court under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b).

III. CLASS ACTION ALLEGATIONS

5. The claims arising under the state wage laws set forth above are properly maintainable as a class action under Federal Rule of Civil Procedure 23.
6. The class action is maintainable under subsections (1), (2) and (3) of Rule 23(b).
7. The class consists of current and former employees of defendants who were suffered or permitted to work time for which they were not compensated, including time for which premium pay was owed but not paid.
8. The class size is believed to be over 50 employees.
9. The Named Plaintiffs will adequately represent the interests of the class members because they are similarly situated to the class members and their claims are typical of, and concurrent to, the claims of the other class members.
10. There are no known conflicts of interest between the Named Plaintiffs and the other class members.

11. The class counsel, Margolis Edelstein, is qualified and able to litigate the class members' claims.
12. The class counsel is experienced in employment litigation, and its attorneys are experienced in class action litigation, including class actions arising under federal and state wage and hour laws.
13. Common questions of law and fact predominate in this action because the claims of all class members are based on whether defendants' practice of not paying nonexempt employees for all hours worked and/or statutory overtime for hours worked over 40 per week violates Pennsylvania State law and the state laws of the various other states in which defendants do business.
14. The class action is maintainable under subsections (2) and (3) of Rule 23(b) because plaintiffs seek injunctive relief, common questions of law and fact predominate among the class members and the class action is superior to other available methods for the fair and efficient adjudication of the controversy.

41. Named Plaintiff Heather Rady is a resident of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and resides within this judicial district.

Class and Collective Action Members

42. The class and collective action members (“Class Members”) are those employees of defendants similarly situated to Named Plaintiffs who were suffered or permitted to work by defendants and not paid their regular or statutorily required rate of pay for all hours worked.

V. FACTUAL BACKGROUND

43. Named Plaintiffs and the other Class Members worked for defendants and were not paid their regular or statutorily required rate of pay for all hours worked and were not paid at time and one-half for hours they worked over 40 in a week.
44. Defendants' policy and/or practice was to not compensate Named Plaintiffs and Class Members for work it suffered or permitted the Named Plaintiffs and Class Members to perform.
45. Defendants knew plaintiffs were supposed to receive such wages, however, defendants willfully failed to pay for all hours when Named Plaintiffs and Class Members worked.
46. Defendants' practice is to be deliberately indifferent to these violations of the statutory overtime requirements.
47. The failure to pay overtime is willful.
48. Examples of defendants' policies and practices to deprive the Named Plaintiffs and Class Members of their earned wages and wage premiums are set forth below:
 - a. Subclass A: Defendants implemented a "Community Work Policy." Under the policy, defendants suffered or permitted their employees to perform "Community Work" so as to increase revenues for defendants. Defendants did not compensate the employees for such time spent in Community Work in furtherance of the employer's business under the "Community Work Policy."
 - b. Subclass B: Defendants implemented an "On Call Pay Policy." Under the policy, employees were suffered or permitted to perform work by handling calls and other work related issues after normal business hours, but defendants would not compensate employees for work performed outside the regular workday, off-site from the funeral home.
 - c. Subclass C: Defendants policy required that certain hourly employees train for and become licensed insurance agents. Defendants did not pay for the training, test taking and continuing education requirements for those positions despite suffering or permitting employees to perform such work.
 - d. Subclass D: Defendants implemented a "Pre-Needs Appointment Policy."

Defendants suffered or permitted employees to meet with clients to discuss pre-need purchases. To the degree that such appointments were beyond the employees' schedule, the employees were suffered or permitted to continue the appointments, but were not to be paid for such time worked under the "Pre-Needs Appointment Policy." Defendants' management would sometimes attempt to justify this policy on the grounds that the employee would likely receive a commission if the client purchased a pre-needs product.

- e. Subclass E: Defendants implemented a "Meal Break Deduction Policy." Under the policy, defendants no longer paid for lunch breaks. Defendants did, however, suffer and permit its employees to perform work during such meal breaks, but pursuant to defendant's "Meal Break Deduction Policy" time spent on meal "breaks" was still to be deducted from the employee's pay even when defendants suffered or permitted work to be performed during such "breaks."
- f. Subclass F: Defendants implemented a "Pre-Approval for Overtime Pay Policy." Under this policy, defendants only permitted payments for overtime if the overtime was pre-approved. Defendants suffered or permitted their employees to work overtime and therefore, the employees were entitled to overtime payments. However, defendants refused to make the legally required payments because the time was not "pre-approved" as required under the "Pre-Approval for Overtime Pay Policy."
- g. Subclass G: Defendants implemented an "Unrecorded Work Time Policy." Under this policy, defendants suffered or permitted plaintiffs to perform work, but directed that such work not be recorded. Defendants then refused to pay for the time worked under the "Unrecorded Work Time Policy" because, even though defendants knew that such time had been worked, it had not been "recorded."
- h. Subclass H: Defendants policy was to not include all remuneration (such as bonuses and commissions) in the calculation of the plaintiffs' overtime.

49. Defendants also failed to make, keep and preserve adequate and accurate records of the employment of Named Plaintiffs concerning their wages, hours and other conditions of employment.

50. More specifically, the records kept by defendants failed to adequately and accurately disclose among other things, hours worked each work day, the total
